Guilty pleas entered in pain clinic case

Owners of Floyd facility to be sentenced July 9

by Tony Fyffe
MANAGING EDITOR

PIKEVILLE — Sentencing has been set for the owners of a former Floyd County pain management clinic who pleaded guilty to federal drug charges Thursday.

Ray Douglas Stapleton and Tina Marie Stapleton entered guilty pleas Thursday in U.S. District Court at Pikeville before Magistrate Judge Edward B. Atkins, who set sentencing for July 9.

The Stapletons, who owned Auto Accident and Health Care at Auxier, along with Dr. Stephen C. Army and Dr. Emmanuel Galang Acosta, were named in a federal indictment issued in September 2012 charging them with conspiring to unlawfully dispense prescription drugs at Auto Accident and Health Care.

They were charged with illegally dispensing Oxycodone, Hydrocodone and Xanax from July 2011 through June 30, 2012.

The indictment alleged that the Stapletons operated Auto Accident and Health Care for the purpose of illegally distributing controlled substances.

The Stapletons, Army and Acosta initially pleaded not guilty to the charges.

Ray Douglas Stapleton and Tina Marie Stapleton each pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to distribute and unlawfully dispense Oxycodone and maintaining a drug-involved premises. They will also forfeit more than $1.3 million in assets to the federal government.

According to their plea agreements with federal prosecutors, the Stapletons opened the pain clinic in 2008 and used an online service to find doctors for the facility.

"Through the online service, the Defendant and Tina Stapleton hired Dr. S to see patients," the plea agreement said. "Initially, Paintsville Auto and Accident Healthcare, Inc., was set up to receive car insurance payments and worker's compensation payments. Later, Paintsville Auto and Accident Healthcare, Inc., shifted to accepting cash as the primary source of payment. Dr. S was paid a flat rate of approximately $120 per hour and saw approximately 8 -10 patients per day. New patients were charged approximately $200 for their first visit and approximately $180 for return visits. The patient numbers gradually increased and Paintsville Auto and Accident Healthcare, Inc., moved to Prestonsburg, Floyd County, Kentucky in the EDKY in 2009 to allow for more parking and then moved again to Auxier, in Floyd County in February 2010. The patient numbers continued to grow."

Kline receives 7-year sentence

by Tony Fyffe
BSN MANAGING EDITOR

PIKEVILLE — A man who bragged that he was one of the biggest drug dealers in Johnson County was sentenced Tuesday to seven years in federal prison on drug and firearms charges.

John Thomas Kline, 43, of West Van Lear, received the 84-month sentence from U.S. District Judge Amul R. Thapar, who went along with the sentencing recommendation in a plea agreement Kline reached with prosecutors.

Kline, who had announced in 2013 his intention to run for Johnson County sheriff this year, pleaded guilty in December to two counts of a 12-count indictment issued in August, admitting that he distributed a quantity of pills containing oxycodone earlier this year and doing so while carrying a firearm.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Hydee R. Hawkins recommended in a sentencing memorandum filed earlier in the week that Kline's sentence be 84 months as recommended in his plea agreement.

"The Defendant's conduct in this case is serious," Hawkins said. "The Defendant sold 100 oxycodone pills to an informant. During the drug transaction that was recorded by both audio and video, he produced a loaded Kel Tec 9 millimeter semiautomatic pistol from his pocket. The WARFIELD — Martin District Judge Kevin Holbrook Tuesday found probable cause and bound over to the grand jury an armed robbery case against a Martin County man.

The decision came after a preliminary hearing for Dallas D. Stacy, 34, of Pilgrim, charged in the Feb. 20 armed robbery of Warfield Prescription Center.

Stacy was arraigned March 6 and is charged with first-degree armed robbery.

Martin County Chief Sheriff's Deputy Bryan

Tipton testified during Tuesday's preliminary hearing.

Tipton testified that the Martin County Sheriff's Office responded to a report of a robbery at Warfield Prescription Center, where a masked man came into the business armed with a handgun and demanded that pills be placed in a bag that he brought with him.

"They took him to the safe," Tipton said. "They placed the drugs from the safe into the bag."

Tipton also said that he had video footage from both the pharmacy and Fast Lane Tobacco.

Drain installation temporarily closes road in Inez

INEZ — Ky. 40 in Inez is closed this week so Kokosing Construction can install a 48-inch cross drain under existing Ky. 40.

The installation and road closure, which began Monday, is near Jude's Produce on East Main Street.

"We want to make sure that everyone understands that the road will be closed to all traffic day and night," said Matthew Moore, section engineer with Highway District 12.

The installation requires that the pavement be cut and a trench excavated large enough to hold a drain that is 48 inches in diameter. Due to the depth of the excavation, the cut will be too wide to be covered during non-working hours, so the road will be closed around the clock for five days.

Traffic is not be able to exit off Ky. 645 onto Ky. 40 going west toward downtown. Traffic is still be able to exit Ky. 645 going east toward Kermit, W.Va., and Warfield. Likewise, vehicles are not be able to enter Ky. 645 from East Main Street, but are be able to access Ky. 645 from the Blacklog Road side of Ky. 40.

The cross drain will provide drainage for the new section of Ky. 40 that is currently under construction.

"We realize this is an inconvenience," Moore said. "But we want people to understand that the only folks who will have to detour are those who want access to downtown or those traveling from downtown eastbound, toward Kermit. The inconvenience will last only five days, weather permitting. We want to thank people for their patience and understanding during this coming week."

PLEAS: Sentencing set for Floyd pain clinic owners

In addition, Tina Stapleton hired “Dr. B” through a recruiting service, and he was employed for eight months before being asked to resign in May 2010.

After the two doctors left the clinics, the Stapletons were unable to find a resident physician for about four months, according to the agreement. In the summer of 2010, they hired Dr. Amy through a recruiting service.

“Amy had no specialized training in pain management and declined to attend seminars or training on pain management,” the agreement said. “Amy began working for approximately $120 per hour and was provided an apartment to stay in near the clinic. Due to the four-month interval when there was not a resident physician at the Auxier clinic patient numbers had substantially decreased. After a few months of Amy working for (the Stapletons), patient numbers began to rise. Amy would see every patient on the first visit. Subsequent visits did not always involve Amy seeing the return patient. The majority of return visits by patients did not involve seeing Amy. Generally, when return patients would come to the clinic in Auxier, their file was processed, payment was made, vital signs were taken by office personnel, and the file was placed on Amy’s desk. Amy would issue prescriptions to most of the return patients without seeing the patient or discussing any matter with the patient. The prescriptions were photocopied and provided to the return patient. Many of the prescriptions were for Percocet 10 mg tablets (Oxycodone)120, Loricet 10 mg (Hydrocodone Schedule III), and Xanax (Schedule IV). Referrals for physical therapy, occupational therapy or other rehabilitation were generally not made.”

Amy quit before Christmas in 2010 and was rehired about a month later at an increased rate of pay of $240 per hour, the agreement said. When he returned to work, he did not change

“any of the practices” he performed previously, the agreement.

“He continued to have personal visits with each new patient, but did not see a majority of the return patients,” the agreement said. “As each returning patient was not seen by Amy, this allowed Paintsville Auto and Accident Healthcare, Inc., to see more patients and consequently obtain more cash payments.”

When daily proceeds from the clinic were received, Ray Stapleton would “often take the cash and count it outside the presence of Tina Stapleton,” the agreement said.

“Although Tina Stapleton made some cash deposits in bank accounts and was aware of the amounts of cash being deposited, (Ray Stapleton) did not tell her the exact cash amounts that he kept with him.”

Ray Stapleton was stopped at a vehicle traffic point in Magoffin County Oct. 4, 2011 and was subsequently arrested for an unrelated charge, the plea agreement said.

“A search of his vehicle revealed a assortment of controlled substances,” the agreement said. “There was a total of approximately $1,290,018 seized from the vehicle. A subsequent search of the Defendant and Tina Stapleton’s residence on October 5, 2011, revealed an additional amount of approximately $27,898. The total seizure is approximately $1,323,916.93 from the vehicle and the residence.”

Ray Stapleton admitted that Tina Stapleton “did not know with any degree of certainty how much cash he carried in the vehicle that was stopped,” according to the agreement, and Ray Stapleton “did not actually have a true count of the cash that was seized from him.”

The agreement says prosecutors could prove that the Stapleton, Amy and others agreed to unlawfully distribute and dispense Percocet (Oxycodone) “without a legitimate medical purpose and outside the usual course of medical practice.”

“Specifically, the dispensation of Percocet as detailed above was conducted with no examination of any kind on the majority of return visits by patients, little medical history taken, and no referrals for physical/occupational therapy or surgery,” the agreement said. “Additionally, nearly all visits were in cash, on return visits the majority of ‘patients’ did not see Amy, and office personnel provided the signed Percocet 10 mg prescriptions to return patients.”

Ray Stapleton admitted that the cash taken from him during the traffic stop as well as the cash found at their home represents “either directly or indirectly represents the proceeds of the unlawful distribution of controlled substances.”

The Stapletons admitted that approximately 14,000 Percocet pills were unlawfully dispensed from the clinic during their agreement with Amy, the agreement said.

Defendant was arrested immediately after the drug transaction with the buy money and the loaded firearm. A search of the Defendant’s residence revealed hundreds of additional pills including oxycodone pills. Bank records obtained during the investigation and provided to the Defendant revealed the Defendant had substantial financial assets in at least one bank account during the time of his arrest. Based upon a review of the bank accounts obtained, the plea agreement includes an agreed money judgment in the amount of $8,000.00. More detailed facts surrounding this offense are set forth in the Presentence Investigation Report and the addendum to the Presentence

Investigation Report, including the information about the bank account funds discovered during the investigation. The underlying facts of this offense involve the Defendant selling a large amount of oxycodone while armed with a loaded firearm. Some of the additional facts surrounding this case highlight the need to protect the public from further crimes of the Defendant.”

Kline’s attorneys said in their sentencing memorandums that their client should receive a sentence ranging from supervised probation to the prison term recommended in the plea deal.

Kline, who must also forfeit $8,000 in cash and numerous firearms and ammunition, will have to serve at least 85 percent of his sentence.

upon the video and we also have the witness statements,” Tipton said. “He was wearing a mask and a hooded sweatshirt and was carrying a handgun when he entered the building. Fast Lane Tobacco had a shot of the car pulling in and the subject getting out and going into the pharmacy. We had tips on the vehicle the next day.”

Tipton also said the Mingo County, W.Va., Sheriff’s Office found him in a vehicle beside the road, with the bottles from the pharmacy in it.

The bottles were in the front passenger seat and looked to be the same pills taken from Warfield Prescription Center the day prior to his being apprehended.

“It was the same bottles and they were labeled,” Tipton testified. “The vehicle matched the description and is registered to Dallas Stacy. I tried to talk to him but he wouldn’t give a recorded statement. I asked about a handgun and he said, ‘Don’t worry about it. It’s not real.’”

Tipton also told the court that the video footage showed

Stacy’s court-appointed attorney, Garland Arnett, questioned Tipton, asking whether the video offered positive identification.

“He had a mask on his face, but he has the height, weight and physical shape of the person in the video and the vehicle matches the person in the video,” Tipton said.

Tipton identified the vehicle as a four-door Buick that has a missing hubcap on the same side and on the same wheel as the one in the video.

Arnett asked how he was able to identify the pills as the ones taken from the pharmacy.

Tipton explained that they had a yellow label just as pharmacy representatives said they would and that they were located inside a patient care bag, just as the one he provided to employees in the pharmacy when the crime was being committed.

The hoodie, mask and weapon were not found.

Tipton also said the physical evidence is still in West Virginia.

Holbrook found probable cause and remanded the case to the grand jury for consideration.

Assistant County Attorney Lynette Muncy told the court the commonwealth objected to a bond reduction.

Arnett argued that Stacy has no prior offenses and said that his risk assessment was only one. He said Stacy should be able to have a reduction in bond to either property or 10 percent.

Muncy said due to the seriousness of the crime and her understanding that he either resides in Ohio or spends a great deal of time there, his bond should not be reduced.

Holbrook said he felt the current bond of $10,000 is more than reasonable and will remain the same.

Stacy was extradited from Western Regional Jail in West Virginia March 5, and Martin County Officials executed an arrest warrant the same day.

Stacy was apprehended by West Virginia authorities who responded to a complaint from a gas station located along Rt. 119 involving a man who had apparently passed out in his vehicle, according to Martin County Sheriff Garmon Preece.

“He was gone by the time they got there, but they found him on down the road where he had pulled off,” Preece said after his arrest.

MURDER: Hearings set in Johnson, Lawrence cases

Fitzpatrick is scheduled for a March 21 pretrial conference in Johnson Circuit Court for the Johnson County charges.

Fitzpatrick, represented by Eldred "Bud" Adams of Louisa, waived formal arraignment and entered a not guilty plea in December 2013.

The indictment issued in Lawrence County last November charges Fitzpatrick with murder, first-offense operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol/drugs, first-degree fleeing or evading, operating on suspended or revoked operator's license and second-degree persistent felony offender.

According to the Lawrence County indictment, on or before Oct. 4, Fitzpatrick allegedly wantonly operated a motor vehicle under circumstances manifesting extreme indifference to the value of human life, thereby creating a grave risk of death to Maynard and was operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or other substance that impair a driver's ability to operate that motor vehicle while also having his license either suspended or revoked. He also knowingly and unlawfully disregarded signals and commands to stop given by KSP Trooper Devan Cleaver in an attempt to elude police.

Fitzpatrick is also a previously convicted felon, according to the indictment.

In Johnson County, he is charged in the indictment for prior alleged incidents that occurred leading up to the Lawrence County crash, including, second-degree robbery, second-degree persistent felony offender, fourth-degree assault and unauthorized use of an automobile.

According to the Johnson County indictment, on or about Oct. 4, Fitzpatrick allegedly, knowingly and unlawfully, while in the course of committing the theft of $100 cash from Deborah Fitzpatrick, used or threatened the immediate use of physical force in an attempt to accomplish the theft; he is a previously convicted felon, physically assaulted Deborah Fitzpatrick and he was in physical control of a 2005 Toyota Camry owned by her without permission to do so.

According to a press release issued by Kentucky State Police at Post 14 in Ashland, authorities received a report of a vehicle traveling north in a reckless manner on U.S. 23 and Cleaver responded.

Cleaver located the tan 2001 Toyota Camry, driven by Fitzpatrick and observed violations, at which time he initiated his emergency equipment and attempted to conduct a traffic stop, the release said. But the vehicle accelerated and traveled at a high rate of speed in an attempt to elude Cleaver, who continued to pursue the vehicle, which turned onto Ky. 644 and continued at a high rate of speed and in a reckless manner, according to the release.

Fitzpatrick lost control of the vehicle as he passed the intersection of Ky. 644 and B Street, traveling into the west-bound lane on Ky. 644 and into the path of a motorcycle operated by Maynard, the release said.

Maynard suffered several life-threatening injuries as he was thrown from the motorcycle upon impact and was later pronounced dead by Assistant Lawrence County Coroner Raymond Byrd, the release said.

It was later reported that Fitzpatrick had been engaged in a domestic dispute in Paintsville earlier in the day and had fled the scene in a stolen tan 2001 Toyota Camry, the release said.

GUN: Man charged with shooting gun at sister

Deputy Mark Wheeler responded to a complaint at 284 Poorhouse Road in reference to an argument between Fitzpatrick and his sister, Jackie Smith.

Wheeler said in the report that Smith advised him that Fitzpatrick came to her house to pick up a possible stolen gun that he had left at her house. She also said they argued and she threw the gun out into the yard and told him to leave.

Smith said in the report that Fitzpatrick picked up the gun and pointed it at her face, threatening to shoot her after he put a round into the chamber, and then he fired the round in front of her.

Wheeler said in the report that a hole and the shell casing was located in a spot on the ground.

"He then gave the gun to his mother and another subject in another vehicle and they all fled the scene," Wheeler said in the report. "I have spoken to his mother, Tammy Evans, who said he handed a handgun into her car."

Wheeler also said in the report that Fitzpatrick had made threats against witnesses in front of the officers.

Fitzpatrick was taken into custody and transported to the Big Sandy Regional Detention Center in Johnson County.

Member of first KSP class recalls early days of agency

PIKEVILLE — As a member of Kentucky State Police Cadet Class #1 in 1948, Chester Potter was a ground-floor witness to the birth and growth of an organization that would transform law enforcement in Kentucky.

Recently, the 83-year-old Pikeville resident, who retired in 1975 as a lieutenant after 27 years on the force, recalled those early “trailblazing” days.

“The training lasted about three weeks in Frankfort,” he said. “It ran from 8:00 Monday morning until about 9:00 Saturday evening. It was a busy time with instructors from the FBI and the Indiana State Police. Together they taught us enough to get our feet on the ground.”

Potter was initially assigned to the Pikeville post.

“But in those days, they’d send you wherever they needed you, so you always had to keep a bag packed,” he said. “No car was issued to you. There were ‘pool’ cars which you could draw out for a certain length of time in order to complete your business.”

He even remembers renting a horse at one time to get where he needed to go. “Often, once you got where you were going, you could just let the horse go and it would go back home on its own,” he chuckled.

Communications could also pose challenges.

“Since we had no radios at the time, we would have to call in by phone every so often,” he said. “Generally, we knew everyone in the area that had a phone we could use or we would find people to relay information back to the post. Many a time I wished we’d had better communications. There wouldn’t have been as many knots and bruises on my head if we had.”

Tracking was Potter’s specialty.

“When someone had took to the mountains to hide out, they would call me in to track ’em down and bring ’em in,” he said. “I always liked to work alone if it was reasonable. I always felt if there was someone with me that I was responsible for their safety. If you had several people out with you, it created more targets, especially if the one you were tracking was a good marksman.

By yourself, I felt you had a better chance of capturing the person without injuring anyone.”

Safety was always a priority for Potter.

“Sometimes I would track someone for a week through the mountains to get in the right position to take them without anyone being seriously injured,” he said. “That was always my goal.”

Research was key to achieving that goal.

“The first thing you wanted to do was to learn as much as you could about the person you were tracking,” Potter said. “Talk to people who live close to him or knew him well. Find out what he’s like and how good a marksman he is.

“The trick was to pursue the person and make them believe they were going to get away. You don’t press them too hard. Wear them down. Just keep on pressing him until he runs out of food or energy and gives up without a shootout.

“Many a night, with snow fallin’, I’ve rolled back under a cliff, raked leaves up into a pile for warmth, slept for a few hours then would get up and go again.”

Overall, Potter says he had many nice experiences as a state trooper and some that weren’t so nice.

“I remember one instance where I was slipping around a house trying to locate a murder suspect and I must have gotten tired or careless because the first thing I knew I was looking down the barrel of a double-barreled shotgun. The guy had a real mean look in his eyes and was kind of grinning. He said, ‘You know, I’ve always wanted to know how a person feels when they are about to die. Can you tell me?’ I said if you’re talking to me, I don’t feel too good.

KENTUCKY STATE POLICE Commissioner Rodney Brewer presented 83-year-old Pikeville resident Chester Potter with a Colonel, Aide de Camp certificate on Jan. 30. Potter, who retired from KSP in 1975 as a lieutenant after 27 years on the force, is the last surviving member of the first Kentucky State Police cadet class in 1948. Photo/Sherry Bray, KSP Public Affairs

“We had a disagreement and it turned out alright. I’m still here.”

Another time, Potter remembers driving by a little country store and seeing a truck with a Georgia license plate and two guys wearing cowboy hats “that cost more than my whole outfit.”

“They got in a nice, slick Cadillac,” he said, “and I wondered what those strangers in a slick Cadillac were doing at that little store. I went back and found out they had put in an order for a truckload of sugar going to Georgia. I thought to myself, ‘Now they sell sugar in Georgia surely.’”

After further investigation, it turned out they were running a moonshine operation out of a cattle farm in Central Kentucky.

“Overall, it was an interesting career,” Potter said.

Although he hadn’t planned on a law enforcement career, the more he became involved, the more he saw the need for change.

KSP Commissioner Rodney Brewer recently had the opportunity to visit with Potter and thank him for his service. He also presented Potter with a certificate naming him Colonel, Aide de Camp to the commissioner’s staff.

“We stand on the shoulders of folks, like you, who went before us,” he told Potter, “those who have blazed the trail for the agency we enjoy today. That is a very strong signal for us to no soil that reputation. Many, many people have endured many, many hardships, trials and tribulations to make our agency what it is today.”

Windows XP: It's time to say goodbye

by Kim Komando

Kim Komando hosts the nation's largest talk radio show about consumer electronics, computers and the Internet.

I've got to tell it to you straight. If you're still on an old computer running the Windows XP operating system, D-Day is at hand. And by "D" I mean "dump it."

I understand if you don't want to face this. You have a computer and the setup works for you. Sure it's a bit clunky, but you don't want to switch. Why waste money on a new computer? I feel your pain.

Here's the deal. Microsoft is abandoning Windows XP on April 8, 2014. When you hear that euphemistic phrase "end-of-life," it means a lot of things. The big ones are no operating system fixes and no defenses against viruses and other online dangers. For more about the other things it means, visit <http://www.komando.com/tips/12200/what-windows-xps-end-of-life-means-for-you>.

Since the end of Microsoft's security updates is big news, hackers and scammers are going to be targeting computers still using XP. You're going to be very, very vulnerable.

Now, if you use an XP computer to, say, write a book or manage your photos and you never connect to the Internet, you should be fine. (Do please remember that your computer is quite old and could die at any moment, so you'd better have your files backed up!)

If you have an XP computer and just browse the Internet occasionally, without the use of passwords for anything ever, you're probably fine as well.

If you're doing anything else — signing into membership websites of any type, or doing any email at all — you really need to make a change. And if you're doing banking or using credit cards online for anything, you've really got to face reality.

The question is, what to do? I'm here to help.

Before you go shopping for a new computer, I want you to make notes about how you really use your computer. Are you basically just on the Web, looking at videos, reading email and occasionally sending a picture or two?

You sound like a perfect candidate for a tablet. They are light and versatile. The proliferation of tablet-only programs — they are called "apps" — means that you can easily find a game or tool that plays to an interest or brings some creativity out of you. I have an extensive Tablet and Smartphone App Review area on my website at <http://www.komando.com/apps>.

There are many different tablets available from Apple, Samsung, Microsoft, Nexus and others. They range in size and weight. Some work on Wi-Fi only. Others offer more storage and better cameras. You'd be hard-pressed to find anyone with a tablet who doesn't love it. For an easy comparison of the various makes, models and features, visit <http://www.komando.com/charts/242385/tablet-comparison-chart>.

If you look at your list and see primarily reading books, watching television shows and movies, it's pretty hard to beat a Kindle. They're made by Amazon and are great gadgets for reading. Certain models let you also add apps for email, games, social media and more. You can read my comparison of the various Kindles at <http://www.komando.com/charts/243920/kindle-comparison-chart>.

Big Sandy Idol names two winners

PRESTONSBURG — The competition was so great, there couldn't be one winner of the Big Sandy Idol regional competition.

There were two. Clarke Sexton, of Johnson Central High School and Haley Sullivan, of East Ridge High School were crowned winners of the Big Sandy Idol regional competition Saturday, March 8, at the Mountain Arts Center.

"Just when you think it can't get any better, it does," said Clayton Case, director of fine arts at Big Sandy Community and Technical College. "We knew it was going to be hard to pick a winner, and I wasn't surprised when I learned the judges had a tie for the top spot."

Sexton, 17, a junior at Johnson Central, performed the Chris Stapleton hit "What Are You Listening To?" Stapleton, a Johnson County native, is a rising country star and songwriter.

"The song just felt right to me," said Sexton, who earned a spot in Saturday's show by winning Friday's wildcard round featuring runner-up winners from the Big Sandy Idol school competition. It marked the second time in the competition's eight-year history that a wildcard winner had won the regional competition.

Sexton performed with a soundtrack on Friday, but he had to perform his song with a band Saturday.

He was flawless.

"I'd rather perform with a band," he said. "It's something I am more comfortable doing."

Sullivan, 17, a senior at East Ridge High School, brought the house to their feet by playing the Ray Charles classic "Georgia On My Mind."

"I'm just blessed to have this opportunity," said Sullivan, who also played the piano during the performance. "I had been in the regional competition before, and I know the level of talent that is here. It's an honor to be named one of the winners."

Sullivan plans on attending Big Sandy Community and Technical College next year. Both Sullivan and Sexton earned a full-paid one-year scholarship to the school and a spot on the coveted Big Sandy Singers, an elite, auditioned group of BSCTC students.

This year, the Big Sandy Singers expanded with the implementation of an acoustic band. Sullivan — and her skills playing the piano, guitar and other instruments — will take the group to new levels.

"I'm looking forward to it," she continued, "and I am looking forward to learning and becoming the best musician and vocalist I can be."

Sullivan and Sexton also won $300 each and a full CD recording (courtesy of TubeFi Studios). Their albums will be released during next year's Big Sandy Idol regional competition.

Last weekend, Jerica Grim, a senior at Johnson Central and the 2013 Big Sandy Idol winner, released her debut CD, along with compilation albums from the Big Sandy Singers and this year's Big Sandy Idol regional competition participants.

Ally Davis of Prestonsburg High School finished second. She performed "Hallelujah." Payton Trout, of Belfry High School, was third. He performed "To Make You Feel My Love" by Bob Dylan.

BSCTC Art Gallery to feature work of Pamela Smith

PRESTONSBURG — The Big Sandy Community and Technical Art Gallery will feature the work of Pamela Smith through March 15.

Smith, a BSCTC student, features painting and textile art. The gallery is located on the Prestonsburg campus of BSCTC in the Magoffin Learning Resource Center.

A native of Prestonsburg, Smith is inspired by folk art and her feelings for home and family. She's a self-taught artist, whose hobbies are painting and quilting. Her work is featured throughout the region, and one of her paintings featured in the gallery is inspired by 20th century regionalist painter Grant Woods' "American Gothic."

Smith resides on Middle Creek.

The BSCTC Art Gallery is open Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and from 9 a.m. to noon on Friday. For more information, call (606) 886-3863, Ext. 64746.

There's still time to sign up for Kynect and avoid penalty

PAINTSVILLE — If you're uninsured, there's still time to sign up for health insurance on Kynect — Kentucky's Health Insurance Marketplace — and avoid the penalty.

The Affordable Care Act requires that most Americans obtain health insurance by 2014 or pay a tax penalty. The penalty will be applied to your annual taxable income for each month you don't have health insurance after March 31, the last day to enroll.

Based on household income and dependents, you may be eligible for health insurance coverage at no cost through Medicaid. Or, you may be eligible for new health insurance through Kynect and financial help from the government towards the cost of premiums may be available.

JCCOHO to hold further life skills programs at Johnson County Library

PAINTSVILLE — Johnson County Community of Hope (JCCOHO) has announced more life skills programs to be held at the Johnson County Public Library.

The programs are free, open to the public, and all materials will be provided. Pre-registration is recommended to ensure sufficient supplies.

"Introduction to Services Provided by the Johnson County Health Department" will be Friday, March 14, from noon-2 p.m.

Topics to be covered are the programs available through the Health Department, needs of the mother and father, needs of the newborn, child development, well child visits, HANDS program information, FIRST STEPS program information, car seat safety, and a question-and-answer session. Participants who bring their children will have the opportunity to have their car seats checked for correct installation and other safety concerns.

Next in the series, "The Importance of Early Learning," will be Friday, March 21, from noon-2 p.m. and will be presented by the children's staff at the Johnson County Public Library.

During this program, participants will have the opportunity to learn about developmentally appropriate toys, simple activities to do with the baby and the importance of reading and talking with your child. Those attending will make toys from everyday household objects to take home and learn about the programs available at the library.

Last in the series will be "Health and Nutrition" on Friday, March 28, from noon-2 p.m. During this program, Dr. Tiffany Mills of Highlands Health System's TLC Pediatrics will talk about the needs of the baby and what the pediatrician or other physician needs to know about your baby.

Developmental thresholds, food allergies, when the doctor needs to be called and other topics will be covered. There will be ample opportunity for a question-and-answer time. Also during this program, a licensed nutritionist, also from Highlands Health System, will talk about the nutritional needs of the mother and baby, reading food labels, understanding food additives and other information about food consumption.

JCCOHO is a recently formed organization where community members from all aspects of Johnson County come together to explore and provide opportunities to help local families. The mission of JCCOHO is to utilize the compassion, skills and resources of the community to strengthen our families and improve child and family well-being.

“This is where Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center can help the uninsured in our community,” said Joe Cook, patient access director “With many people lacking access to a computer or just need help maneuvering through the enrollment website, our application counselors can help. We can assist individuals and their families evaluate the available health plans and determine if they’re eligible for Medicaid or other insurance options.”

To make an appointment for sign-up help, call 606-789-3511.

All health plans on Kynect must offer a comprehensive set of benefits, and individuals cannot be denied coverage based on a pre-existing condition. Some of the available health benefits include preventive care and wellness services, doctor visits, prescription drugs, hospital and emergency department care, lab services, pediatric services – and more.

Kentucky chose to expand Medicaid coverage beginning in January. This expansion increases eligibility limits for adults to 138 percent of the Federal Poverty Income Level (equivalent to an annual income of about $15,900 for one person) and opens Medicaid coverage to a new population, including childless adults.

For more information or to schedule an appointment with one of Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center’s Kynectors, call 606-789-3511.

You should know that there are a lot of complaints about Windows 8, the latest version of Windows. Poke around online or at your local store and you should be able to find a laptop or desktop using Windows 7. This is a lot closer to how your beloved XP works.

Just make sure you’re getting a Windows 7 machine with at least 4 gigs of RAM. Better yet, upgrade to 8 gigs of RAM, and this computer might last you as long as your XP machine did. For help buying a new computer, use my buying guide at <http://www.komando.com/buying-guides/242155/buying-a-new-computer-2>.

Should Microsoft be ending its support of XP? Yes and no. Look – computers change, nothing lasts forever, and there’s an argument to be made that a computer that old isn’t giving you everything technology has to offer these days anyway.

On the other hand, we as consumers should have the freedom of choice. It’s not like our old cars are summarily ordered off the road.

Truth be told, it’s really the Internet’s fault. Like it or not, the amazing offerings online come with some downsides. One of them is the vulnerability XP is going to expose you to if you keep using it. It’s time to let go!
